WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

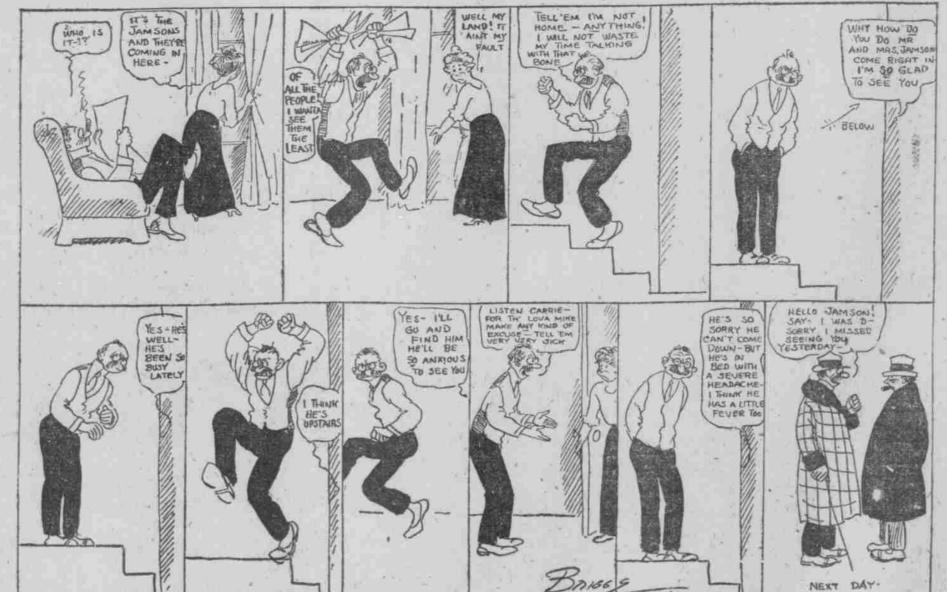

Dandruff causes a feveriah irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 55-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out—Advartisement.

Helen Caught.

Helen Caught.

The doctor was rather short and very fascinating. Helen, who studied his face between courses, decided that he was not exactly good looking, but that there was something very attractive about his spontaneity. She liked him, but she was nevertheless very match embarraised when he turned to her suddenly and asked her what she thought of him.

"Why, I ddn't mean to be rude," she defended.
"Of course you didn't. I know that I was supposed to he under observation tonight. I'm just curious, that's all."

"Well, the verdict is not guilty of anything wrong," said Helen laughingly. live coals in the stove. The result was an explosion which burned him on the department, assisted by some neighbor women who went to the rescue of the burned man.

Helen responded lightly and the dinner slowly drew to a close. Helen was a little glad when they finally rose from their seats and made their way into the anteroom. In spite of the fact that she had enjoyed herself the speeches were long and a little bit tiresome, and she was anxious to dance, inst as anxious as the younger people who were impatiently waiting for the rooms to be cleared.

Coming out of the dressing room a few minutes later she encountered Warren.
"Come on," he said. "I have been

Warren. "Come on." he said. "I have been waiting for you. Let's strell through the rooms. I want you to meet some of my friends."

The Davesports.

The Davesports.

Helen was quite willing to be introduced, and walked along beside Warren, her eyes wide with expectation.

"There's Ed Davesport and his wife. You must meet them, Helen."

"Where" interrogated Helen.

"Coming toward us. "Hello, Ed, I want you to meet my wife."

"Glad to know you, Mrs. Curlis," said a short, well got up man with glasses.

"Warren, I don't believe you have met my wife, have you? Gertrade, Mr. and Mrs. Curlis."

The introduction was managed do informally that Helen had no chance to observe Mrs. Davesport before she

"That's just what I have been telling Mr. Davenport," she said. "I come from Charleston myself, and the people there are so different and entertain so different and entertain so differently. You don't happen to know any one from the south do you, Mrs. Curtis?" I believe not," said Helan, sweetly. "Didn't I see you in the dressing room tonight? I thought you stood right next to me. There is always such a crush around the mirrors."

Suspicious.

Helen made this remark quite unconsciously, but Mrs. Davenport looked at her suspiciously.

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATAR-RHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES,

BY BRIGGS!

RHAL DEAPNESS AND HEAD

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrial Deafness, head noises or ordinary estatric out out this formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhans from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarris is a constitutional discusse and freessarily requires a constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate signassars and force the discase into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or olse the discase in drives down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English chunte is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacions to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your Drusgist i ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it is pint of hot way ter and a ounces of Sranulated sugar stir until dissolved. Take one table-spoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief-from distressing head noises. Clogged nostila should open, heathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the sustaching tubes is reduced. Phemint is used in this way as it acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a allace tonic action that familiates the recovery of the patient. The preparation is catarria should give this treatment a trial.—Adv.
